Mr. Davis in Chatham.

The Durham Tobacco Plant says: "A gentleman who attended Chatham court, last week, brings encouraging news from that County. He says there are but few Democrats that will vote for Josiah Turner and that Radicals are lukewarm in their support of him. The best informed confidently expect Chatham to give Joe Davis five hundred majority. Republicans and Independents have a bad time in good old Chatham."

Prior to the war, in 1860, federal taxation did not exceed sixty millions per annum; five years after its termination it reached four hundred and fifty millions. During the twelve years that have elapsed since the termination of the war more than four thousand millions of dollars have been taken from the people by federal taxation, which immense amount has been squandered and wasted, and much of it corruptly embezzled. Year by year this great evil has been set forth and combated by the Democratic party, until the yearly taxation is reduced 100 per cent, nearly, and with this reduction a perceptible improvement appears in trade and commerce. The moment approaches when the government will pass into the hands of that party and complete relief accrue to the country. At such a crisis and in view of such a prospect, the Democrat who sets up for himself or wanders off after strange gods is blind to the best interests of the country or actuated by selfish and sinister motives.

THE VAGARIES of Georgia politics, this Fall, are remarkable. In the Seventh District, Felton, Independent, is running for Congress against Lester, the regular Democratic nominee. Knowing Dr. Felton as we do, we are surprised at the censurable attitude he has assumed, and especially surprised to see that he has put his wife in the field as a shield against the assaults of his opponents, apparently relying upon Georgian chivalry not to attack Mrs. Felton. All his replies to hostile criticism and personalities have been written by her and appear over her name. The rule, however, does not work, as the Lesters continue to reply to them, ignoring his wife, just as if he had written them. One correspondent ("Citizen,"?) however, writing to the Atlanta Constitution, reminds the lady to her domestic privacy in the following spirited manner:

"You, chivalrous gentleman, march down into the mire and the filth of the political arena, thrusting before you, into its besmirching foulness, a woman—your wife! A strange sight to Georgia's men—stranger yet, thank God, to her women! I will ignore the secretary and deal with you. I sympathize with her, and pity the necessity which forced her from the privacy she so adorns out into the public stare to shield you with a woman's name and the robes of a woman's immunity. My pity is only equalled by the wonder that you cannot pause, even on Sunday, long enough to sign your name to the communication your secretary writes in your behalf. Beware of Spear's activity! Should any expression escape me seeming to reflect upon Mrs. Felton, I beg you to disclaim such an intention. She does not, I am sure, court personal martyrdom for the Doctor's benefit. I am, actually, confident that she is not seeking to blunt the edge of truth's attack upon her husband by stepping forward, thinking the blows intended for him will be spared on her account. Stand aside, madam; I have taught to do with you! Uncover the Doctor and retire to the privacy of your hearthstone."

Having waved Mrs. Felton one side, he then goes for the uncovered husband without gloves. The fight has become so bitter between the Feltonites and Lesters that a Radical by the name of Holzclaw has had the temerity to announce himself as a candidate for Congress, hoping for an opportunity to slip in between them. He is the only Radical, we believe, running in the whole State.

The British War with Afghanistan.

By Cable to the News. LONDON, Sept. 26.—If it be true that the Commandant of Almusjid, in the presence of one of the American most trusted servants, threatened to shoot Cavagari, there can be little doubt that the threat was in accordance with direct instructions from the Amir. The Times says this latest news leaves little doubt that the American operations have in fact commenced already. The Amir doubtless intended to make the breach with England irreparable. Such will be the effect of his conduct. We ought to be well able to succeed, by occupying two or three important points in Afghanistan before the winter, which will go a long way towards finishing the war. We can continue it in the spring, if the Amir is still obdurate. The blow, when given, must be effectual. Even the Daily News favors prompt and vigorous action.

The Greasers Make Demonstrations.

By Telegraph to the News. GALVESTON, September 26.—News by a San Antonio special says: from reliable information at headquarters, is stated that the Mexican Government has ordered the troops at Monterrey to the Rio Grande frontier. Five thousand reinforcements are en route to that border. Thirty thousand dollars is appropriated for mobilizing this force. General Narrahal will be in command.

Northern Pacific Railway.

By Telegraph to the News. NEW YORK, September 26.—The annual meeting of the Northern Pacific Railroad Company was held yesterday. The report to the directors shows that the business of the road is increasing satisfactorily. The gross earnings for the year were $1,173,381, expenses $631,102, leaving a net balance of $542,279.09. Net increase of $109,381 over last year.

The Democratic Convention at Syracuse—The Platform.

By Telegraph to the News. SYRACUSE, N. Y., Sept. 26.—The Democratic Convention assembled at 2:45 p. m. Hon. Estlin Brooks was chosen permanent chairman. The platform of the Democratic party affirms the following principles, as set forth in the platform adopted in 1874 and 1877: Gold and silver coin and paper convertible into coin at the will of the holder to be the only currency. Steady steps towards specie payments. Honest payment of the public debt. Congratulate the country upon the practical realization of the greenback currency of the government with gold and silver. Preservation of public faith in the tariff for revenue. No Government partnership with protected monopolies. Home rule, to limit and localize most jealous powers entrusted to public servants, whether municipal, State or Federal. No centralization. Equal and exact justice to all men. No partial legislation. No partial taxation. Official accountability rigidly enforced by all civil and criminal remedies. No private use of public funds by public officers. Corporations chartered by the State to be always subject to State supervision in the interest of the people. The party in power to be responsible for all legislation while in power. Economy in public expenses, that labor may be lightly burdened and the laborer fully paid for his work. Uniform and equitable excise laws. No sumptuary laws.

It was resolved that the provision of the State Constitution mandating in regard to the apportionment of members of the Senate and Assembly is a failure of the Republican party. For three successive years after the taking of the census, so to apportion the State, is a gross crime against the people, and a dishonest and infamous refusal to obey the plain directions of the fundamental laws.

Resolved, That, by an infamous conspiracy of force and fraud, high officials and reputed leaders of the Republican party, annulled and revised the nation's choice for the Presidency, and put the defeated candidate in the chair of Washington, and cheated the people out of that reform of the Federal Government, which their ballots had demanded, and it is now ordained, and it is the stern resolve of the American people that such fraud has been perpetrated for the last time.

Dark Work of Russian Agents in Cabul.

By Cable to the News. LONDON, Sept. 26.—The Daily Telegraph, in a leading article, says: Lord Augustus Loftus, British Ambassador at St. Petersburg, left Berlin for St. Petersburg, Tuesday. He doubtless will demand explanations and a withdrawal of the Czar's agent from Cabul without delay. The Indian government has long had possession of documents and authenticated copies of letters advising Sher Ali, in the name of Russia, and by the pen of a Russian agent, to just such a dangerous policy as he is now pursuing.

Submission to Austria.

By Cable to the News. VIENNA, Sept. 26.—It is officially reported that a deputation from a deputation from Zvonnik arrived at Tuzla, announcing to Gen. Szapary the submission of the inhabitants, and expressing a wish that the Austrian troops should enter the town. A deputation from the town of Krasnoyarsk and Biel also declared the submission to the Austrian authorities.

Congressional Nominations.

By Telegraph to the News. SELMA, Ala., Sept. 26.—The Republican Convention of the Fourth District, after the day's balloting, nominated Jere Harless, colored, ex-Congressman.

BELLEFOUNTAIN, Pa., Sept. 26.—The Democrats of the 20th District, nominated ex-Governor Andrew G. Curtin.

New York Republican Convention.

By Telegraph to the News. SARATOGA, Sept. 26.—The Republican Convention assembled here this morning. Hiram H. Kimpton was chosen temporary Chairman and permanent President.

"THE RETORT COURTEOUS."

Governor Hampton's Rejoinder to Governor Rice.

COLUMBIA, S. C., September 24.—The following letter has been addressed by Governor Hampton to Governor Rice, in response to that recently received from him:

STATE OF SOUTH CAROLINA, EXECUTIVE CHAMBER, COLUMBIA, S. C., Sept. 24.

His Excellency Alexander H. Rice, Governor, Boston, Mass.:

SIR—Owing to my unavoidable absence, your letter refusing to surrender Hiram H. Kimpton, a fugitive from justice arrested in Massachusetts, for whose delivery upon indictment regularly found against him here for a crime committed in this State, I, as the Governor of South Carolina, made demand upon you, as the Governor of Massachusetts, in accordance with the Constitution of the United States and the act of Congress passed in pursuance thereof, has remained unanswered. I regret that the Chief Executive of the great State of Massachusetts should have committed so flagrant a violation of the supreme law of the land, a violation irreparable in its nature, as the State suffering thereby has no possible redress. Had you confined yourself to giving a simple refusal to surrender the fugitive, I should have no further comments upon your letter, as the disregard of the Executive authority of one State concerns the whole people of the United States; but inasmuch as you have seen fit to base your action on the ground that in your judgment the object in procuring the indictment against Kimpton, Parker and Kimpton, "does not appear to be for the purpose of trying Kimpton for the crime charged against him, but for a different purpose," it is my duty, as the Governor of South Carolina, to add that your statement is entirely unwarranted, and to repel the unworthy imputation, as I do with indignant scorn. I am your obedient servant, WADE HAMPTON, Governor.

THE YELLOW DEATH.

Memphis no Longer in Need—Terrible Condition of Holy Springs.

A committee of citizens adopted a resolution thanking the United States and the world at large, for generous contributions against the yellow fever.

Fix Up the Streets.

Correspondence of the News.

I desire to ask through the columns of your paper why a filthy, stagnant pond of water is allowed to stand in one of our principal streets. In the middle of Wilmington street, opposite the east Capitol gate, there is a pond of standing water that should be filled up at once. I learn that the Street Commissioner has been informed of the matter, and requested to have it attended to, but all to no purpose. Perhaps, now, as he has a large additional force under his charge, at the expense of the tax-payers, he will have all such matters attended to without further complaint.

BUSINESS IN GOLDSBORO.

Political Matters—Failure of Two Large Business Houses—The News.

Special Correspondence of the News. GOLDSBORO, Sept. 26.

Business in our little city is excellent; cotton is coming in from Wayne, Greene, Sampson, Johnston and other counties, in large quantities, and commands good prices.

The Democratic Congressional District Convention will assemble in Goldsboro, on Tuesday, October 1st. Delegates to this Convention will be passed over the several railroads at three cents per mile each way.

Will the Convention elect a candidate, is the question. Several good men are named in connection with the nomination. Kitchen, of Halifax, seems to have the inside track. No better man could be selected.

THE REPUBLICAN EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE.

were in session here on Monday and Tuesday last, to consider the propriety of taking the obnoxious negro O'Hara from the Congressional caucus. O'Hara appeared before the committee on Tuesday, but failed to answer the charges brought against him, to wit: bigamy, &c. The committee adjourned to meet here again on Monday next, when some definite action will be taken in the premises.

BUSINESS FAILURES.

The suspension of Messrs. John H. Powell & Son, dry goods merchants, is announced. This was one of the largest business houses in Goldsboro. The firm made an assignment on Monday last to E. B. Borden, Esq., President of the Bank of New Hanover. Liabilities, $80,000; assets estimated at $30,000. Cause of failure said to be dealing in "cotton futures"; dangerous business, that.

The failure of Messrs. Gregory & Galloway is also announced. This will be sad news to the people in Eastern North Carolina. The firm was one of the staunchest firms in this section. Everybody knows "uncle Dick Gregory," and will sympathize with him in his misfortune. This firm has been dealing in "cotton futures" too.

The News continues to occupy a high position in this section. It is very justly regarded as the best daily ever published in your city. I hear its enterprise and editorial management commended on all sides. Continue in your good work, the people are with you.

Socialism in Germany.

President White in the Tribune.

"In Germany last winter, I had made the acquaintance of some earnest Socialists. From curiosity I attended some of their meetings. I heard much that was wild and absurd, and what would bring society into chaos and despotism if realized. Still, I am bound to say the conduct of the people attending the meetings was very sensible and quiet. There seemed to be no mania for sensation or making a noise, or trouble. I am convinced that the Prussian attempt to put down things by main force is a great mistake. If the government would confine itself to punishing violators of existing laws and breaches of order, and allowed liberty of discussion, I am satisfied from the meetings I attended, that the German people would defend themselves out of what is dangerous. The strongest hold of Socialism in Germany, France has in the main got through with it. Of course, the main incentive is the fearful pressure of the present war. I travel from the frontiers of France by easy stages, around to Italy, and then through Germany, and in every little town the most important business seemed to be the training of men to cut the throats of their neighbors. France is obliged to have a military system, and Germany, too; and that is the centre of the evil; but the financial depression is almost unbearable. In Germany, there are few signs of a better world. It is curious that Germany, which had so much money poured in upon it after the Prussian war, should now be almost stagnant financially, while France, from whom the numerous money were taken, enjoys apparent prosperity. I think the prosperity of France, however, is due to the fact that she always kept in her financial administration men who were masters of the best knowledge that has been gained in the science of kind subjects. In this respect she has excelled every other nation."

Uses of the Regular Arms.

By Telegraph to the News.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 26.—The Cabinet discussed a clause in the Army appropriation bill, prohibiting the use of the army as a posse comitatus to aid the civil authorities. It was said this clause had in numerous instances been detrimental to the government services. The Secretary of War stated that he felt justified, however, in directing General Crook to afford protection to the Pacific Railroad, the government having an interest in that road, and a duty to perform in the safe conveyance of mails.

A RELIC OF THE WAR.

Henry A. Parr, on Trial for Participating in the Seizure of the Steamer Chesapeake, Discharged.

Special Dispatch to the New York Times.

BOSTON, Sept. 25.—The famous case of the United States against Henry A. Parr was closed in the Commissioner's Court to-day by the discharge of the defendant. Parr was one of a party of 17 who, during the war of rebellion, seized the steamer Chesapeake, when about 30 miles off Cape Cod, taking possession of her in the name of the Confederate States of America. The Chesapeake was a coal and passenger boat, plying between New York and Portland, and the party of seventeen took passage on her at New York as passengers. In the melee on board, when the crew were overpowered, Schaffer, who was engineer, was killed, and it was for his murder that Parr has been on trial. The Commissioners found that Parr was not upon that part of the vessel where Schaffer was killed, and took no part in the killing; but it was also in evidence—which evidently had the most weight—that when John C. Braine, the commander of the expedition, was indicted in New York for the killing of Schaffer, William M. Everts, then United States Attorney-General, wrote to United States District Attorney Tracy, instructing him to enter a nolle prosequi for [Everts] finding that "at the time of the action of irregular warfare which constitutes the ground of the indictment, Braine was a duly commissioned officer of the Navy of the so-called Confederate Government."

He was "not disposed further to enter upon the treatment of his case as falling within ordinary principles of the administration of criminal justice." The Commissioner discharged the case on the ground that he finds that the capture of the Chesapeake was made in behalf of the so-called Confederate States, and was an act of war, and came within the provisions of the proclamation of amnesty and pardon issued by President Johnson in 1868.

"De Mortuis."

Louisville Courier-Journal.

The death of a military courtesan, who converted a house of ill-fame, of which she was the mistress, into a yellow fever hospital, furnishes one of the most striking and suggestive examples of the many touching incidents of the plague. It would seem that, if it is in the reach of worldly influences to destroy within the mortal bosom all sense of humanity, the life led by the habitual woman of the town, and the experience known to human kind, is calculated to effect that end. In the nature of the case the prostitute is detached from natural conditions. Too often she has been the victim of the basest betrayal. In every case, in every time, she is the object of horror, and, by necessity, of brutalizing treatment. Exposed incessantly to ill-use, no law to protect her, no association to elevate her, no possible example which she fully realizes, the wonder is that she does not become a very fiend incarnate. Yet, by some strange, mysterious anomaly in the organic being of women, history is not wanting in examples of the power of self-sacrificing devotion and generosity, among this class; so that there is reason to doubt whether it is in the power of the world, the flesh and the devil to stamp out of a nature, not originally bad, the flower of love and pity when once implanted there.

To be sure, upon occasions of extreme danger those who are most desperate, who have least to lose, are likely to be the bravest. But there is something and martyrdom another; one may be brave without being compassionate; and, curiously enough, as combating the notion of mere bravado, the conduct of women like that of the courtesan, in the circumstances which brought her to her death, has baffled all the prognostications which might otherwise be drawn from their antecedent career, illustrating some of the best traits that ennoble the best of us.

It is a melancholy reflection that, theorize as we may and sentimentalize as we do, no moral can be drawn from such examples calculated in any wise either to lessen the evils of prostitution, or to elevate the fallen. There is one thing, however, that is certain, and that is, that the moral of the story is that the power of the world, the flesh and the devil to stamp out of a nature, not originally bad, the flower of love and pity when once implanted there.

Rule I. All matches or sweepstakes shall be shot at eighteen yards.

Rule II. Pulling of Traps.—When the shooter is at the score to shoot, the referee will then say, ready! after which the caller will pull the trigger of the trap, and the shooter will pull for each shooter. If the trap is sprung before the shooter has given the word, he can take the shot or not; but if he shoots, the ball or balls shall be scored, whether broken or not.

Rule III. Referee.—In all cases, a referee shall be appointed, and his decision shall be final. In case the trap, when sprung, breaks the ball, the referee, in all cases, shall require the shooter to shoot at another ball, whether he has previously shot at a broken ball or not.

Rule IV. Position at the Score.—After a shooter has taken his position at the score, he shall not level his gun or raise the butt above the elbow until he calls pull. Should he infringe on this rule, the ball or balls shall be scored as lost, whether broken or not.

Rule V. All balls must be broken in the air to count. If a ball is on the ground, it shall be scored as lost.

Rule VI. There shall be no restriction as to size of shot used, or charge of powder, but the charge of shot shall not exceed 1 1/2 oz. In all cases, any one using a large quantity of shot shall forfeit all rights in the matches. After a gun is loaded and challenged, and the shooter discharges his gun, the penalty will be the same as for over-loading.

Rule VII. All ties to be shot off at 21 yards rise, at five single balls each, and in case of a second tie five more balls, and so on until decided. In all cases, ties must be shot off before sunrise, or postponed until next day, unless the interested parties agree otherwise.

Rule VIII. In double shooting, the distance shall be 16 yards rise, and from two traps placed 10 yards apart. Ties shot off at 18 yards rise at three single balls each; and in case of second tie three more pair each, and so on until decided. In all cases both traps must be sprung at the same time.

Rule IX. Time at the Score.—A participant in a match shall hold himself in readiness to come to the score when his name is called by the scorer. If he is longer than five minutes, it shall be discretionary with the referee whether he shall allow him to proceed further in the match or not.

Rule X. Miss-fire.—Should gun misfire or fail to discharge, from any cause, it shall score as a lost ball, unless the referee finds upon examination, that the gun was properly loaded and the mis-fire unavoidable, in which case he shall allow another ball.

Rule XI. Loading guns.—In case of breech-loaders, the party called to the score shall not place his cartridge in the gun until he arrives at the score. In case of muzzle-loaders, the party called to the score shall not place the cap on his gun until he arrives at the score.

NOTES.

And so you're returned from Europe. Now pray tell us how much did you see? Oh! we took in a lot of old castles. And trotted about in Paris.

We saw all the things in the guide-books. Did the classical dodge, while in Rome; but between you and me, the adrop, we are thundering glad to get home.

At a recent Democratic demonstration at Fairfield, South Carolina, three hundred colored men appeared in the procession wearing red shirts, the uniform of their organization.

A Boston young man married against the wishes of his parents, and, in telling a friend how to break the news to them, said: "Tell them first that I'm dead, and gently work up to the climax."

Dennis Kearney, while in Newark, N. J., stopped at the best hotel. A reporter went to interview him at ten o'clock in the morning, but the "representative workman" was still in bed.

Secretary Sherman remarks, concerning the order to begin redeeming greenbacks with silver, "I cannot say; some of the expressions therein are such as I might have used if I had not now prepared to swear. Call Mrs. Jenks."—Littell Observer.

The new Arkansas Senate will consist of 39 Democrats, 1 Greenbacker, and 1 Republican, the last being a colored man who holds over. In the House there will be 81 Democrats, 5 Greenbackers and 7 Republicans.

A miner took refuge from Indians at the bottom of a shaft fifty feet deep, in Inyo, Cal. The savages dropped big stones to him, but he, though he dodged, and finally escaped. He says that he could see the stones coming in time to get out of the way, but that "if the damned lunkheads had dropped two to once they'd have done the job."

"Independence"—An Admission and a Warning.

With the New York Times "the wish is father to the thought," when it asserts that "no more than in North Carolina is the Independent movement likely to yield substantial results."

"copies sharp it takes, I mean, and if the comfort which the Times can find in the North Carolina out-look is derivable from the expectation of what independence is just now likely to accomplish, its consolation is cold enough to have been generated in an ice-house. Similar complacent anticipations were entertained and expressed by the Radical press during the late campaign in this State, with apparently greater hope of realization, and yet, out of the hundred and seventy members of the Legislature, the number of Independents elected can be counted on the fingers, and they can in no wise affect or control the large Democratic ascendancy in the two Houses,—even were they all to co-operate with the Republican minority. The truth is, however, that, with scarcely an exception, they will unite and fraternize with the Democratic majority.

The "Independent" movements, in the various Congressional Districts, which, at one time, perhaps, seemed somewhat menacing to Democratic unity, have pretty well "played out" in some cases utter hopelessness of success has prompted the withdrawal of self-constituted aspirants, while, in others, a sober second thought has intervened to show them the folly and criminality of jeopardizing the success of the party upon which all their hopes of reform and good government depend. Democrats, actuated by their interposi-considerations, are worthy of all commendation. We can readily imagine the train of thought passing through the minds of those who, while having, or fancying that they have, justice to complain (at the hands of the party, or of good claims to promotion or office as others, are sincerely attached to Democratic principles and solicitous for their triumph. An ingenious and patriotic Southern Democrat would look at the matter in this light: What am I, or my small ambitions, compared with the success of that great organization which has lifted from my shoulders and those of my section the yoke of the spoiler and the oppressor? What is any one individual, or his imaginary or real little grievances, when weighed in the scales against the supremacy of great principles, vital, as I believe, to the good of the country, the welfare of the people and the maintenance of free institutions? Perish, then, the thought, that I can lay myself or my petty aspirations in the path of my party's honor and success, or that I will oppose my name and influence to its authoritative voice and organization!

In but one District of the State, at present, is there an "Independent" Democratic candidate, whose pretensions are at all perilous to Democratic unity. The candidacy of Col. Winston, in the Fifth District, while it does not, we are convinced, seriously endanger the certainty of Gen. Scales' election, may have a prejudicial effect in disturbing party solidarity. When that gentleman fully realizes, as he must and will do before long, that such will be the effect of his remaining in the field, we trust and believe that he will sacrifice his aspirations on the altar of patriotic party and public duty.

Whatever silly claims to "Independence" may be put forward by Mr. Turner, it is still a fact that we have no "Independent" candidate for Congress in this District. Bledsoe and Brown are avowed Republicans,—the former a "swaddling clothes" apostle, and the latter iron-clad, case-hardened and wool-dyed,—and Turner is the candidate of the wing of the party represented by the Radical Executive Committee. His appeals for support are mainly directed to negroes, and his assaults are chiefly made upon the Democratic party. His election, of which, however, there is no earthly chance, would be as signal a defeat of the party in this District as would that of his new allies, Tourgee and Martin, in the Fifth and First. Whatever danger, therefore, if there were any, there might be of his success, would be based upon his endorsement by the Radical Executive Committee, added to such Democratic support as he could command,—the result, with some, of a hard-to-be-forgotten sympathy with his former record, and an unwillingness to believe in his abject apostasy. The Democrats of this District, however, with each recurring day, are becoming more and more solidified and determined, and the election of that gallant gentleman and soldier, that pure and patriotic citizen, JOSEPH J. DAVIS, is an assured fact.

Recurring to our theme, however, the Radical Times, still referring to North Carolina and the South, hits the nail squarely on the head, when it says: "The Independent movement is a direct blow at the Democratic organization, and furnishes opportunities which we should know how to turn to account." Here is, for our purposes, both an admission and a warning. It is an acknowledgment that the Radical party is so far gone in the throes of dissolution that, by its own energies or strength, it is impotent to accomplish anything. It is a confession that, driven from power and place by the indignation of an outraged people, its only hope of regaining the opportunities of spoliation and oppression is through the unthinking, but none the less criminal, DIVISION OF DEMOCRATS. It is a suggestion, upon the part of a leading organ of the bond-holders, monopolists and money-lords, to the demoralized Southern wing of its allies, that, by fomenting dissensions among Democrats, they may not be compelled to forego their policy of enriching the favored few at the expense of the masses and may be enabled once again to establish "a strong government" of proscription, oppression and oligarchy.

The admission and the suggestion furnish the warning. If the Democrats of North Carolina and of the South do not profit by it, they will deserve the fate that shall follow its rejection. They are invited to become the authors of their own ruin. They are not so blind or besotted as to fall into the pit. Should they do so,—which is impossible, surely,—when the barb hits home and hardest, it will be their severest pang.

That THEY nursed the poison which impelled the steel.

The State Guard.

We note, with pleasure, the earnest interest and official zeal exhibited by the Adjutant General of the State, and his efficient staff, in increasing the numbers and perfecting the organization of the State Guard. It has already assumed eminent respectability in both respects, without cost to the State, and deserves to have legislative aid and encouragement. It is expected that, at the ensuing State Fair, it will present an appearance and display a strength and disciplined proficiency that cannot fail to be imposing and gratifying.

There are two aspects in which this movement, looking to a proper organization of our home militia, through the medium of volunteer associations, may be viewed as being productive of very desirable results. The experience of North Carolina, in the matter of Federal military interference with her local and domestic affairs, has not been such as to render it probable or desirable that, in any possible emergency, any Executive that is likely to have in the future would invoke its interposition. Outside of the objections to such a contingency, growing out of the lessons and warnings of the past, we are of those who, abstractly, believe in the policy of each State relying upon its own resources for the conservation of good order and tranquility within its borders. We have heard it said of Gov. Vance that, in the event of such serious troubles in North Carolina as were then shaking the public security in other States, he would call on the National Government for suppressive aid, his reply was: "Not until all the brick-bats have given out,"—which was only a homely, but emphatic mode, on the part of our patriotic Chief Magistrate, of expressing that North Carolina was abundantly able, or should be able, to take care of herself. Exigencies may arise, however, when the strong arm of repression may be required in our midst, and, in that view of the case, the existence of a well-organized, disciplined, drilled and compacted State Guard is an important and desirable consummation.

Considered as a social factor, such an organization is to be valued. The association of so many young men together in spirited rivalry and friendly emulation has a tendency to beget an esprit de corps and a feeling of State pride that must tell upon the general tone of patriotic public sentiment; and the annual re-unions and competitions of these young men from various portions of the State will bring them and their sections together in closer acquaintanceship and more intimate and generous relations.

We repeat our hope, therefore, that the efforts being made by the proper officials to make the State Guard a success will be appreciated and assisted in every proper and legitimate way.

A LAD, by the name of Henry Bodine, has just died in Buffalo from spinal meningitis, caused by a blow on the back with a strap, inflicted by one O'Neill. We gather the facts from the Courier. While the results have been fatal, there is nothing to show that O'Neill acted more harshly toward the little fellow than most other men would have done under the circumstances, certainly nothing to indicate cruelty or malevolence. A party of boys were playing with his own son in his yard and upset a pile of bricks. O'Neill gave them a cut or two with a strap, his own son coming in for a share of the punishment with Bodine and others. A strap is not a very formidable weapon, for its application produces nothing more than a smart. It is certainly less dangerous than a cane, and infinitely preferable to the open hand. However, O'Neill struck little Bodine on the back, and for some reason or other the blow produced inflammation of the membrane lining the child's spine, indicating rather an unfortunate selection of a place to hit than any undue severity of the blow. The same application to the arms or legs of the boy would have been harmless. At the same time the practice of whipping youngsters in this way is indefensible though universal. It is difficult to measure the force of a blow, even were requisite for the bringing up of children. Corporal punishment can very rarely be necessary where parents or teachers keep a vigilant watch upon children. We refuse to beat hardened criminals for fear of brutalizing them, and yet beat children without any thought of the moral effect upon their more impressionable characters.

The New York Herald calls Butler "the stormy petrel of American politics," and the Charleston Courier dub him "the strabimical bully of New Orleans."

BEAUTY:

OR THE

AN ITEM OF INTEREST TO EVERY LADY WHO DESIRES TO BE MORE BEAUTIFUL.

Unfortunately not one woman in a hundred, subjected to the whims of an American climate possesses that basis and starting point of real beauty—a pure and clear complexion.

What nature has thus denied, art must be called upon to furnish.

It can be done; it is done daily. Prof. W. E. Hagan plans a nation of 3 or 40 look not more than 20 years old, and changes the rustic maiden into a cultivated city belle.

The Magnolia Balm removes all blemishes and conceals every drawback to beauty; and while it is as harmless as water, it is so life-like in its effects that the closest observer cannot detect its use.

Ladies who want to make themselves attractive can make an absolute certainty of it by using Hagan's Magnolia Balm, and we know of no other way. It is the cheapest preparation in the world, all things considered, and may be had at any drug store.

MAGNOLIA BALM

The MAGNOLIA BALM is a sure device for creating a pure and blooming complexion. It gives the complexion a dazzling purity and removes all roughness, eruptions, redness, blotches, freckles, and tan with magical power.

It makes the plainest face beautiful. It gives the complexion a dazzling purity and removes all roughness, eruptions, redness, blotches, freckles, and tan with magical power.
